

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Villa's troops have taken Parral, near Chihuahua, according to a message received at El Paso.

The turkey crop in Indiana is short and prices will be 10 or 12 cents higher for the best bronze birds.

John R. Commins, professor of political economy at the University of Wisconsin, is one of the big republicans who came out for Wilson this week.

A small boy at Vincennes, Ind., fell out of a persimmon tree and was found unconscious and being rooted about by hogs under the tree four hours later. His recovery is hoped for.

The Rexall straw vote elects Wilson with New York, Illinois and Indiana counted for Hughes. Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Utah, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Oklahoma and the solid south are counted for Wilson.

The alleged ink scandal has about it many odors of improbability. It seems strange that any business house would run an open account to $219,000, for a period of two years, with no payments made and all orders received over the telephone. If the ink was never shipped, where is it?

Mr. Hughes gave up a $12,500 office to lead the forlorn hope of a discredited party. He has no doubt realized during his disappointing campaign, what he made a foolish mistake in giving up a bird in the hand for one in the bush, with the cold winter coming on, too. New York papers will probably in a few days have in their want columns an appeal for work for a statesman out of a job.

Mr. Hughes is running display advertisements defining his principles as follows:

- Executive responsibility.
- An able cabinet.
- A firm foreign policy.
- A flag that protects.
- Trade preparedness.
- Government oversight of business.
- A policy of industrial peace.
- Could any set of platitudes be weaker or more meaningless. His able cabinet would doubtless be made up of able statesmen who change their politics every four years and are anything to get into office.

THIEF ENTERS RESIDENCE

Several Valuable Articles and a Purse Containing Some Cash Taken.

Mr. J. L. McCord's residence, No. 1110 High street, was entered by a thief one night this week, during the absence of the family, and a purse containing some cash, a $25 camera and other articles were stolen. Entrance was effected by unlocking the front door, the thief, in some manner, having secured a key that fit the lock.

W. M. S. MEETS MONDAY.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. This meeting will be followed by a service of prayer, beginning the annual week of prayer. Prayer meeting will be held every afternoon of the week at 3 o'clock. All women of the church are cordially invited to attend.

Tag Day Monday

The United Daughters of the Confederacy are preparing to make Monday next Tag Day for the Davis Memorial at Fairview. Ladies will be on the streets to tag everybody who will buy a tag at any price from 10 cents to $10. It is hoped to raise a very substantial sum in this way to apply to the monument fund.

DISPOSE OF DEPARTMENT

Forbes Manufacturing Co. Will Transfer Implement Stock.

TO PUSH OTHER LINES

Change To Take Effect On the 20th of the Present Month.

Owing to the pressure of business in their various other departments, the Forbes Manufacturing Company have deemed it expedient to sell their entire stock of farm machinery, implements, buggies, fertilizers, field seeds and plows to Messrs. F. A. Yost Co. The transfer of stock will take place on Nov. 20th.

The demand for Mogul wagons is unprecedented in the history of their business and in order that Mr. M. C. Forbes might be in position to give more of his time to the wagon business, the Directors of Forbes Manufacturing Co., decided to dispose of this department, and give their entire time to the hardware, contracting, lumber, saw mill, blacksmith, stoves and china, tin and plumbing and electrical departments, which business is growing by leaps and bounds.

The lines disposed of have been carried into the office building on Main street, detached from the other departments, and taking up a great deal of valuable room. Other plans are in view for the big office building, one of the handsomest and most commodious buildings on Main street.

THE ATHENAEUM

Hears Two Good Papers and Engages in a Prolonged Discussion.

The November meeting of the Athenaeum was held at Hotel Latham Thursday night with Vice President A. H. Eckles presiding and the following members present: J. W. Downer, T. C. Underwood, John Stites, J. G. Gaither, Austin Bell, Ira L. Smith, Chas. M. Meacham, H. W. Linton, L. H. Davis, T. W. Perkins, C. M. Thompson, Geo. E. Gary, Petrus White, Jas. A. McKenzie, P. B. Brooks, Lewis Powell and G. C. Koffman.

Two very interesting papers were read. Mr. Geo. E. Gary in a paper of literary excellence argued that the world was undergoing a gradual process of retrogression, and that the future held no hope of equaling the past in any respect.

Dr. C. M. Thompson gave a biographical sketch of Jerry McCauley, a New York philanthropist, who began life as a criminal, was converted in Sing Sing and became one of the noted slum workers and agents for great good during the civil war period and when he died in 1884 was honored with a monument erected by popular subscriptions. Both papers were discussed by nearly every one present, Mr. Gary's especially being vigorously combated by the optimists, who argued that the world is growing better all the time.

The meeting proved to be an excellent one and both writers were congratulated on the originality of their themes and the carefulness with which the program was prepared.

Mr. Ed L. Weathers was elected to the only vacancy in the membership. The usual excellent dinner was served in the ordinary.

DEMOCRATS JUBILANT

Over a Handsome Gain Made In Supplemental Registration.

The supplemental registration was completed Wednesday night, with a total of 168 names added in three days, 104 white and 64 colored. By parties there were 94 Democrats, 69 Republicans and 5 Independents. Adding these names to the regular list the total is as follows:

	W.	C.	D.	R.	Ind.
No. 1	191	187	147	216	13
No. 2	38	262	31	286	5
No. 3	372	44	310	94	12
No. 4	318	124	248	171	19
No. 5	234	34	167	92	6
No. 6	197	45	163	74	5
No. 7	26	169	23	171	1

1,376 887 1,090 1,102 61
Majority 12

These figures show a total of 2,263, or 104 short of the registration last year. The missing voters are practically all Republicans and the slender majority of 12 for the Republicans in the city, is not counting 61 Independents. As the Independents are more likely to vote with the Democrats, especially on the local ticket, the Democrats are confident of carrying the city by a substantial majority.

TWO WILLS ARE PROBATED

John C. Marquess Leaves Estate to Wife, in Trust for Son.

The will of the late John C. Marquess was probated in County court this week. He left his estate to his wife, Fannie Redd Marquess, to have and to hold in trust during her natural life or widowhood, for the benefit of their son, Robert Lee Marquess. Should his wife marry or die, then the property at the time of marriage or death reverts to their son. Mrs. Marquess is named as executrix. The instrument bears date of Feb. 4, 1916, and was witnessed by A. E. Dunlap and R. C. Crenshaw.

The will of the late Miss Jennie Bell was also probated. She left all of her estate to her brother, Mr. John H. Bell, and he is named as executor.

ITALIANS STRIKE, VAUX RETAKEN

4,731 Austrians Captured in Carso Plateau Drive—Berlin Admits Withdrawal.

RUMANIANS NOT LICKED

Germans Still Have Upper Hand in Transylvania Region.

London, Nov. 3.—On the fighting fronts important successes have been obtained by the French in the regaining of Fort Vaux, northeast of Verdun; by the Italians in a further push forward in the Gorizia and Carso sectors, through which they are trying to reach Trieste and by the Germans in Volhynia, near Witoniez, where Russian positions were stormed and captured and twenty-two officers and 158 men were made prisoners.

The Transylvania theater is witnessing a continuation of the advance of the Austro-Germans south of Bothemthurm pass, while in the Jial valley the Rumanians are keeping up their pursuit of the Teutons. There is still no news concerning the operations in Dobrudja except the statement that the Russo-Rumanian advance guards are reconnoitering and that Constanza has been shelled from the sea without success.

In Macedonia fighting continues in the bend of the Cerna river region with small successes for the Serbs. On the remainder of the front bombardments are in progress.

Although the Berlin war office has officially announced that the Germans have evacuated Fort Vaux, thus placing this important strategic point once more in the hands of the French, the Paris war office, as yet has made no mention of this fact.

To the north of the Somme the French have made an additional gain between Les Boeufs and Saily-Sailisel and also taken 200 German prisoners, making the total of men captured Wednesday and Thursday in this region 736.

East of Gorizia and on the Carso plateau near Vallone the Italians after violent artillery preparations attacked the Austrian line and, despite the resistance of the Austrians, captured in the former sector the eastern slopes of Tivoli and San Marino and heights east of Sober. On the Carso plateau several wooded hills were taken and an advance of two-thirds of a mile was made to the east of Segiti. During the fighting 4,731 Austrians were made prisoners and six guns and other war material were captured.

Two-thirds of the world's corn is grown in the United States.

BEAUTIFUL LIFE IS ENDED

Death Claims Mrs. J. E. Adams After Long Period of Suffering.

Mrs. Alice Boyd Adams, wife of Mr. J. Eli Adams, of Church Hill, died at 7 o'clock Thursday morning in the infirmary at Ridgeport, Tenn., where she had been under treatment for more than a year. Death was due to tuberculosis, other complications being contributory. Mrs. Adams was, before her marriage, Miss Alice Boyd, a daughter of Mr. Joshua Boyd, of Nebraska, and was 24 years old. Her husband, and one child, Mary Alice, five years old, survive.

The deceased was a member of the Methodist church and was a noble christian lady and great church worker. Her demise is a source of sincere regret to her host of friends.

The remains arrived here yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Virgil Elgin, and the interment will take place at Riverside Cemetery. Sisters of the deceased are expected to arrive from Nebraska in time to attend the funeral and burial.

Rev. W. P. Crouch, of Louisville, will assist Rev. Elgin in conducting the funeral services. The active pall bearers are: Roy Cary, Emmett Haydon, Henry Hurt, Allen Nuckols, Charles Piece and R. H. McGaughey. Honorary—Dr. W. Williams, Dr. J. E. Stone and Dr. F. M. Stites.

HERE TO PROBE CAR SHORTAGE

Commissioner McChord To Begin Hearings To-day.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—Commissioner C. C. McChord of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who is to hold hearings here Saturday in an effort to ascertain the reasons for the unusual car shortage, arrived in Louisville through the balance of this week and part of next week.

The railroads have decided upon an increase in demurrage charges as a means of reducing the car shortage, according to tariffs issued yesterday by local lines. The increases are announced to become effective December 1.

Instead of a flat charge of $1 a day after the expiration of the present forty-eight-hour free time period, the new tariff proposes a charge for $2 for the first day after the expiration of the free time, $3 for the second day, $4 for the third day and $5 for each day following.

The increase is intended, according to railroad men, to induce the prompt unloading of cars placed for shippers.

Discussion of the demurrage matter, which has been under consideration by railroads and shippers for some weeks, is expected to feature the hearing to be conducted by Commissioner McChord into the car shortage question.

TWINS BORN DIFFERENT DAYS.

Ashland, Ky., Nov. 3.—When Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sepplan arrived at a local hotel Mr. Sepplan deposited in the lobby a coffee box which he had carried from the depot. The box contained twin baby girls, one of whom was born September 10 at 6:30 a. m., and one September 11 at 2:20 a. m. The children were being taken from Weeksbury, Ky., to Ironwood, Mich., and were placed in a box, as no basket large enough was available in Weeksbury, which is a mountain town 125 miles from Ashland and ten miles from a railroad. The babies stood the trip here splendidly.

The Conebo, Shippo, Cocomo and Yahua tribes of Amazon Indians are still wearing clothes of grass.

HEFLIN AT COURT HOUSE

To-Night Will Close The Campaign In This County.

LOOKS GOOD FOR DEMO.

Judge Bush Will Win By 1,000 to 1200 Majority For Judge.

The Democratic campaign closes in Christian county with the Democrats in fine feather. Judge Bush was out at Edwards Mill Thursday night and he and L. E. Foster addressed a crowd of 100 voters, and many women and children. Speechings were held last night at several other places.

To-night Congressman Heflin, of Alabama, will be the orator at a rally at the court house. A big crowd is sure to be on hand.

The Republicans on the other hand are having poor rowds. At Adams' Store, in North Christian, it is said, only five men and three women were out to hear Judge Fowler. At Bainbridge only 15 people, and at Bluff Spring only six are reported as being present. The night meetings among the colored people may be doing better, but there are no outward evidences of enthusiasm.

Campaign Chairman, Vego Barnes, has perfected an organization all over the county that is sure to bring results. No figures are given out as to majorities, but the Republicans will lose heavily in every district, and practically all the Democrats who did not vote last year are going to vote this time. The Republican majority of Morrow over Stanley was 2038 last year, with Democratic vote 700 short of the normal strength. The Republican majority will be cut half in two.

Reports from Calloway are that the Stanley majority of 1300 will be increased to 2000 this year. Trigg will give Bush 150 and Lyon 250 majority. Bush, even conceding Fruit 1200 in Christian, will have 1000 to 1200 in the district. But let every Democrat do his full duty.

LIFE'S CLOSE FOR J. W. VREELAND

Long Prominent as Publisher and in Politics of the City and State.

John W. Vreeland, publisher of the Farmers' Home Journal, and long prominent in the politics of Louisville and the State, succumbed to Bright's disease at the family home, 1421 South Fourth street, early today. Mr. Vreeland had been in poor health for about three years, but was able to attend to his affairs until June 27, when he was compelled to give up and remain in bed. With the exception of about two or three weeks, he had been confined to his bed since that time, save for short periods.

Mr. Vreeland was fifty years of age, having been born August 6, 1866. Into that span he had crowded unusual activities in business and politics, and had won unusual success.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Lottie B. Trigg, daughter of the late H. C. Trigg, of Glasgow, Ky., one of the most prominent bankers in the State. They were married twenty-eight years ago and had made their home in Louisville ever since.

He is survived also by three brothers.—Louisville Post.

mer, of Davenport, Ia., is out for Wil-

"is to this country and our political allegiances should be decided by the issues of most concern to this country and hence I feel it my duty as an American citizen and a democrat to cast my vote for the democratic national ticket at the coming election."As long as Candidate Hughes had his mouth sealed by reason of his position on the supreme court he was regarded as man of brains and parts.
But like Peter's when he attempted to deny the Savior, the moment he opened his mouth his speech betrayed

stuffs and drugs and, it was said,
"possibly stocks, bonds and precious stones," comprise the cargo of the German submarine merchantman Deutschland, according to a statement tonight by Paul Koenig, commander of the craft. The Deutschland is in port at New London, Conn., after having succeeded in making a second voyage from a German port to the American coast, despite the watchfulness of British and French war vessels. The Deutschland did not lie on the ocean floor this time as in the voyage which ended at Baltimore last July. The submarine instead varied the monotony of its sailing under water or on the surface with occasional dodges beneath vessels identified as warships of belligerent nationality, or thought to be.
Seven times, Capt. Koenig said, he maneuvered in this way. The last time was off Nantucket Tuesday
when he sighted a "four funneled steamer," and dived beneath her.
"The storms gave us more trouble
than this so-called blockade," he continued. "We were beset by heavy southwest gales for days and they were with us most of the way across.
Fog also hindered us. We might as well have been submerged, the weather was so thick at times."Rats every year destroy about 5 per

TASTE OF "HOME COOKING"

Woman Who Lives in Apartment Can Have It If She Will Do a Little Planning.Many a woman living in a two-room and-bath apartment and taking her meals in an adjoining public dining room years at times for something
"homemade" and delicious; chocolate
layer cake, for instance; or scalloped oysters, or old-fashioned molasses cake, or soda biscuit, tender and piping hot, and made rich with a little shortening. One woman condemned
—as she expresses it—to live in a luxurious hotel apartment most of the year, satisfies her housewifely instincts by getting Sunday-night tea in her own apartment by aid of a chafing dish, a coffee percolator and a one-burner gas stove with a little oven about as big as a baby's bathtub.It is surprising how many delectable things can be baked in this absurd little oven. Out of it come small layer cakes, pans of light biscuit, toothsome little drop cakes, small pans of piping-hot Sally Lunn and rich gingerbread for the Sunday night supper. The little oven bakes only a small quantity—enough biscuit for four persons, twice around, and layer cake which makes six good-sized slices; but the Sunday night opportunities to have a taste of real home cooking are much appreciated by privileged guests who also dwell in boarding places.No woman with fastidious taste—
and thought for her neighbors—would venture to cook steak or fry potatoes in an apartment house, where odors of cooking are not supposed to permeate;
but creamed entrees, salads, baking of the sort referred to and various appetizing scalloped entrees may be prepared by aid of chafing dish and a little oven of the sort. The small ovens may be used on electric grills also,
and rare is the woman who does not enjoy an occasional "cooking fest" to keep her hand in at housekeeping.—

CARE IN TABLE DECORATION

People as a Rule Don't Like to Play
Peek-a-Boo at Dinner, Says
Miss Holman.A few flowers are in good taste and add charm to the dining table but the whole greenhouse or garden should not be used. They shouldn't fairly scream out for attention, asserts Miss Araminta Holman, instructor in home
art."Decorations should always add beauty to the article which they decorate," says Miss Holman. "The flowers that are dainty, delicate and sparingly used are attractive on the table in the dining room. A small fern is appropriate. The flowers are of less importance than the food, the dishes and the silver. One or two flowers are usually enough, properly arranged.""Their tops should not be higher than the tallest dish on the table.
Persons seated for the dinner should not have to play peek-a-boo around a tall vase of flowers."

Furnishing Small Rooms.

In furnishing a small room two necessary points must be considered:
First, that space is gained by making things as flat as possible against the wall; and, second, that stiffness is prevented then by introducing a plant or two, if the room is a living room or a dining room, and breaking the lines of the furniture by pulling out a table a little or turning a chair.A low seat 16 inches in height, running around a corner and along one side of the room to some break of door
or window, saves space and furniture, and adds a charming effect. It should be upholstered, and have only an occasional rather small and carefully selected pillow. Low book shelves, too, built against the wall, furnish without furniture, but care must be taken that they are not extended in too continuous a straight line. A carpet or rug of a solid color also increases the effect of space.

Lemon Custard.

Beat four eggs until light and then add the juice and grated rind of a lemon, two cupfuls of milk, half a cupful of granulated sugar and a tablespoonful of flour, rubbed smooth with a little of the milk. Put in a buttered baking dish and bake until solid in a pan of water. Have ready a meringue made of the whites of the eggs, beaten stiff, sweetened with sugar. Pile this in a heap on a board and brown in a slow oven. Then slide it gently on the custard. Chill and serve cold.

"Frenched" Strawberries.

Wash and hull large strawberries,
allowing six or eight to a person; cut fresh ripe pineapple in strips about one-quarter inch thick and one inch long, and insert in the berries to replace the hulls. Arrange individually and garnish with whipped cream,
which has been sweetened to taste
with powdered sugar. It may be tinted pale pink with vegetable coloring if desired.—Good Housekeeping.

Toasted Corn.

An improvement over boiled corn is toasted corn, which has a much more delicious flavor. After boiling the ears six minutes, so as to cook them partially, remove to a breadtoaster and place over hot coals, turning until they are browned evenly.

New Tomato Recipe.

When broiling or frying tomatoes
sprinkle them generously with grated cheese just before serving and top each portion with a little whipped cream.

JAPAN IS LEARNING ENGLISH

Assertion That Remarkable Progress
Has Already Been Made in Its Acquisition.The progress of English as the "second language" in Japan proceeds with gathering force. Recently the third conference of teachers of English in all the leading middle schools throughout the country to the number of several hundred was held during an entire week at Osaka, the proceedings being opened by Baron Kanda with an address, followed by Baron Kikuchi, who suggested the improvement of the reading matter
in school text books.The annual exercises of the English-speaking society of Waseda university were given in the auditorium, says the Far East. In addition to a large number of students there were many prominent educationists present and a number of foreign residents. The meeting was opened by Prof. T. Takasugi, as usual, with a forceful address, in which he eulogized the wonderful work accomplished by the founder of Waseda, Count Okuma, as an educator and a statesman.The short plays and speeches, all rendered in English by prominent young students, were upon the whole well done, reflecting credit upon the foreign teachers, who have been training them almost day and night for the past fortnight. A dialogue entitled "Man About the Town" produced by the students of a senior class was probably the best of all plays given during the evening.

SOME ALTITUDE

Percy Pollen—What made you call
that bug a mountaineer?
Wald-Worm—Well, he was raised
in an ant hill.

DEAD MAN'S HILL.

How did the little mountain or great hill in the Verdun battle ground come to have its strange, un-nanny name of "le Mort Homme" or
"the Dead Man"? Discussing this question, Le Cri de Paris says that the forest people are by no means exact in their pronunciation of words, and that it is quite likely that Mort Homme was intended for "le Mort Orme," "the Dead Elm," and that the hill of 295 meters has at one time been distinguished by a remarkable elm. There are several hills on the Meuse and in Champagne
called "le Mort Homme," "the Dead Man," and all these are vestiges of ancient Gallic cemeteries, so that the appellation of the Dead Man's hill
may be the proper one after all.

JUST A WAY THEY HAVE.

"Ever notice it?" queried the party who propounds questions in sections."Did I ever notice what?" asked his one-man audience."That the older a man gets the more respect he has for himself when he was a boy?" said the other.

COVER MORE ACRES.

The tractor, the great, powerful gasoline horse that can do the work of five or ten struggling equines, is increasing the acreage which can be farmed by one man. Approximately 75 per cent of tractor owners in Illinois state that the tractor has proved a profitable investment to them. Of this number about one-third, after the purchase of the outfit, increased the acreage which they were farming, the increase averaging about 120 acres per farm. On the other hand, of the men who found the tractor unprofitable, only one-twentieth increased their acreage after purchasing the tractor.

SMALL MARVEL OF THE SEA

Worm's Work Seems Almost to Prove
It Is Equipped With Something Like Intelligence.The question of where intelligence begins to manifest itself in the scale
of animal life has often been asked.
It seems to exist even in the lowest forms. A peculiar specimen of the invertebrates of the ocean, an exceedingly small worm—so small that it measures less than four millimeters in length—exhibits movements that cannot be explained by anything but intelligent will.This midget seaworm is a construct-or; he builds a rampart in the shape of a tube, composed of grains of sand.
His form shows a hanging double lip jutting like a fleshy precipice over a great mouth, four black eyes set in the front of his head and two tentacles which work incessantly, wringing and lashing whatever they can reach. It is with the same apparently nervous tentacles that the little monster of the deep seizes his material, the glistening sand, of which he constructs his rampart.He catches a grain of sand in his tentacles and immediately carries it to his mouth. In his mouth nature secretes a strong cement. One grain after another is covered with cement
and rapidly accumulated in the form of a tube. Naturally enough, when the builder works so fast, there must be breaches in the walls. These breaches are carefully scrutinized by the worm, filled with grains of sand and covered with cement. When finished, the tube is a very practical and creditable piece of work.Nothing could be more interesting than the little workman's management of his tentacles. Again and again he tests the solidity of his work by tapping the walls in every direction. To observe the work of this peculiar sea-pigmy is to be convinced that the tube-
like rampart is not built by accident.
In such work there must be the participation of some sort of mentality.

SMOKERS IN DICKENS' WORKS

Great Novelist Had Many of His Characters Use Tobacco in One Form or Another.The "cigarettes" mentioned by Dickens in 1857 were "brown paper cigars,"
an informant writes to the London Chronicle, and were evidently rolled by hand in the fashion not unknown today, though rapidly being superseded by the machine-made article.In the first chapter of "Little Dorrit," written in 1857, the villain Rigaud
in his jail at Marseilles has tobacco brought to him with his rations and he rolls it "into cigarettes by the aid of little squares of paper which had been brought in with it." The scene, by the way, is dated by Dickens "thirty years ago." Whether the paper was white or brown does not appear, but it seems clear enough that the smokes in question, thus rolled in a prison cell, had more likeness to the modern cigarette
than to a cigar, although the novelist
sometimes calls them little paper
cigars."Little Dorrit," I think, adds the correspondent, is the first of the novels in which the word "cigarette" appears, although pipes and cigars are frequently mentioned, usually in the mouths of the morally less admirable characters.
Montague Tigg and Cheery Slyme both move in an atmosphere in which tobacco is added to frowsiness. Rogue Riderhood's rascality is heightened by his use of a pipe, and the depth of Quilp's inhumanity is emphasized by his abilities in the way of what is now called "chain smoking" with cigars, while he swallows boiling rum from a pamkin kept on the fire. Eugene Wrayburn's languid idleness is solaced by cigars, but correct characters,
such as John Harmon, never touch what Tony Weller calls "the flagrant weed."

After the River Salmon.

There is just one way to fish for river salmon when it is possible; that is, wading. With waist waders on you advance into the water at the head of the pool and cast your fly over the deep water below. Your guide will probably sit on the bank and watch you, ready to come to your aid with the gaff at the proper time—provided you will take such measures that the proper time arrives.For all his presence, you will do well not to get in over the tops of your waders, particularly in "heavy" water. If it be so heavy that you cannot negotiate it properly by wading,
you will, of course, have recourse to a boat or canoe.In the country of the pierrot canoe,
that long, narrow, but very dependable affair hollowed out of a pine log—and this is quite likely to be salmon country as well—you will find this an excellent craft from which to fish.

"Black Death" Bubonic Plague?

Some historian-physicians have satisfied themselves, and many other men who have followed their line of argument, that the "black death," which swept England and other countries, was what the world now knows to be bubonic plague, a disease that has been traced to rats and the fleas that infest rats. It was only a few years ago that the great discovery was made that there is association between bubonic plague, rats and rat fleas. It has been shown that the commonest rat fleas in all tropical and subtropical countries infest man, and if they should have fed upon a plague-infected rat and subsequently bite man, their bites communicate bubonic plague.—

Habit of Being Happy.

Keeping oneself reasonably happy is a duty that ought not to be shirked.
Science is telling us these days that to get out of the habit of enjoyment is to get depressed in vitality and vigor, to weaken in efficiency, and grow old before one's time. There is nothing like laughter—not empty-headed laughter, but the intelligent, wholesome, kindly-hearted kind—to keep people young and fresh and fit for business and the obligation of living. Of course, this is a prescription not easy to live up to always, but there is no reasonable excuse for not trying to do it. Sometimes it is just about as easy to be happy as to be miserable if one makes up his mind to it, and there is no doubt at all as to which pays the best.—On-

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

WILSON BEST FOR NATION

One of Oldest and Most Influential Newspapers of Country Takes Stand.

New York, Nov. 1.—The New York Evening Post, one of the oldest and most influential independent newspapers in the country, declares to-night in favor of President Wilson's re-election. It bases its advocacy upon the ground that the President's re-election will be for the "good of the country." Having entered the campaign with a mind open to conviction and with high hopes of Mr. Hughes, the Post has found his expressions of policy a sore disappointment. The editorial says:

"We agree with Prof. Bliss Perry in what he has lately written: 'I like fair play. Having known Woodrow Wilson for nearly twenty-five years as a high-minded gentleman of absolute integrity, of stubborn Scotch-Irish courage, and of passionate devotion to his country, I resent the wilful misrepresentation and malignant disparagement which characterize the campaign against him.'"

"In this respect Mr. Hughes has been the President's best campaigner. Meanwhile Mr. Wilson has in his speeches shown by contrast. He has known how to be dignified while forcible. And the increasing emphasis which the whole drift of the campaign has placed upon the President's highest service to the country—his maintenance of peace with honor—has been unmistakable. His re-election would be the strongest kind of peace mandate from the people of the United States. It is mainly for this reason that the Evening Post, without abating its recorded criticisms of the President a jot, believes that a victory for Mr. Wilson next Tuesday would be for the good of the country."

HELP FOR WORKING WOMEN

Some Have to Keep on Until They Almost Drop. How Mrs. Conley Got Help.

Here is a letter from a woman who had to work, but was too weak and suffered too much to continue. How she regained health:—

Frankfort, Ky.—"I suffered so much with female weakness that I could not do my own work, had to hire it done. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I tried it. I took three bottles and I found it to be all you claim. Now I feel as well as ever. I did and am able to do all my own work again. I recommend it to any woman suffering from female weakness. You may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. JAMES CONLEY, 516 St. Clair St., Frankfort, Ky.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice.—It will be confidential.

THE CALL OF THE PEOPLE.

By

MRS. L. T. JENKINS.

Come all ye gallant countrymen,
Be loyal, brave and true,
And rally around the standard
Of the old red, white and blue.

Do you know the meaning of the banner?
Do not the old flag stain,
Let it stand for peace and freedom,
Throughout our vast domain.

We've tried our loyal leader,
And found him just and fair,
The call is coming to others
From the plains and everywhere.

To again elect him president,
He is the people's choice,
Hold up his hands my comrades
And help this land rejoice.

Oh, men, go vote for Wilson,
And choose the better part,
Take this with you, brother,
Ank keep it next your heart.

When you vote for our president,
Don't let the State and county go,
But rally for our democracy,
For Judge Bush and Kinchloe.

Started Early.

Standing on the threshold of the justice's office, where they had just been wed, an Oregon City, Ore., couple began a quarrel over their respective favored candidates for the presidency, and had to be separated by an onlooker. Each wore a campaign button, and each quite vociferously stated opposed views.

IDEAS FOR DESSERT

CONFECTIONS TO FOLLOW SUBSTANTIAL MEAL.

Steamed Custard is One of the Best —Tangerine Souffle May Be New—
Excellent Recipe for Lemon Pudding.

Steamed Custard.—Put three-quarters of a pint of milk into a stewpan with two ounces of loaf sugar and a small piece or pinch of cinnamon. Beat the yolks of two eggs thoroughly and whisk the whites to a stiff froth, finally adding them to the yolks. As soon as the milk reaches the boiling point pour it by degrees onto the eggs, stirring it gently all the time and leave the custard to cool. Butter a plain mold and strain the custard into it. Cover it securely by tying a piece of buttered paper on the top and steam very gently for 35 minutes. Stand aside to get cold. Serve the custard turned out of the mold and surrounded by stewed fruit.

Tangerine Souffle.—Separate the white from the yolks of six perfectly fresh eggs. Put the yolks into a basin with four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, the grated rind of two tangerines and a half portion of grated lemon rind. Beat the ingredients with a wooden spoon for ten minutes. Stir in one tablespoonful of pastry flour, and when this is thoroughly blended, with the egg mixture add one teaspoonful of orange flavoring. Add a pinch of salt to the whites of the eggs and whisk them to a very stiff froth. Mix them lightly and thoroughly with the prepared yolks and pour the mixture at once into a buttered scuffle mold. Smooth the top over with a knife into the shape of a dome and bake the souffle at once in a quick oven for from ten to twelve minutes. Just before serving sprinkle some sifted powdered sugar over the top.

Lemon Pudding.—Put two ounces of butter into a saucepan and when it is melted stir in by degrees two tablespoonfuls of flour and one and a half tablespoonfuls of corn flour. As soon as the ingredients form a perfectly smooth paste, add gradually, stirring quickly all the time, one pint of milk and continue to stir until the mixture has boiled and thickened. Remove the pan from the stove and add three tablespoonfuls of sugar, the grated rind of a large lemon and one tablespoonful of brandy or vanilla. Beat in the yolks of two eggs which have been thoroughly whisked with a fork. Add a pinch of salt to the whites of the eggs and beat them to a stiff froth. Allow the pudding to cool and stir in the strained juice of a lemon, a little at a time, and the whites of the eggs. Line a pudding dish with puff paste, pour in the liquid mixture and bake at once in a fairly quick oven until the top is lightly or evenly browned. The heat must not be fierce nor must the pudding be allowed to remain in the oven more than from 20 to 30 minutes, or it will curdle and be spoiled. A jug of thick cream should be passed with it.

Plain Omelet.

Separate the yolks from the whites of four eggs. Beat the yolks until thick and lemon-colored; add one-half teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of pepper and four tablespoonfuls of hot water. Beat the whites until stiff and dry, cutting and folding them into the first mixture until they have taken up mixture. Heat omelet pan and butter sides and bottom. Turn in the mixture, spread evenly, place on the range where it will cook slowly, occasionally turning the pan that omelet may brown evenly. When well-puffed and delicately browned underneath, place the pan on center grate of oven to finish cooking the top. The omelet is cooked if it is firm to the touch when pressed by the finger. If it clings to the finger like the beaten white of egg it needs longer cooking. Fold and turn on hot platter, and pour around one and a half cupfuls of thin white sauce. Milk is sometimes used in place of water, but hot water makes a more tender omelet.

To Make Baking Powder.

Take one-half pound cream of tartar, one-fourth pound cooking soda, one-eighth pound cornstarch; sift together 12 times, the last time into cans.

To remove iodine stains on clothing sponge freely with ammonia.

To make flaky piecrust fry out three pounds of pure lard and two pounds of cold suet; strain and mix together. This makes a very nice, rich piecrust and is very much healthier and cheaper than clean lard.

Beefsteak With Vegetables.

Put a piece of steak in a baking tin, dredge it with flour and season with pepper and salt. Almost cover with water and cook in the oven for 20 minutes. Then cover it with onions, thinly sliced, and cook for another 20 minutes. Next add a layer of tomatoes, sliced, and cook for ten minutes more. Take it from the oven, baste well, sprinkle grated cheese thickly over and return it to the oven to brown.

Princess Charlotte.

Line a plain mold with lightly oiled paper, arrange sponge or vanilla cakes all around it, then fill up with a good vanilla bavaroise, as below, mixed with one-half cup of any nice dried fruit cut in shreds. When set, turn out and ornament with icing, using a forcing bag with fancy pipe. Serve on a fancy dish paper.

"Lincoln was the greatest war president of our history. Wilson has already mounted above all history as the greatest peace president of all times. Let those who love war vote for Hughes."

THOSE THAT HAVE-GET BY WEST

HELPED OUT THE COLONEL

Arrangement Made It Easy for Him to Establish a Record With the Rifle.

Colonel Firebrand, who commanded the territorial battalion, which was the pride of the countryside, was paying a visit to the rifle butts. His comments on the firing were acrid in the extreme, and at last Captain Sabres ventured a comment.

"Why don't you take a shot yourself, colonel, just to show them how it should be done?"

The gallant officer did not seem to be particularly keen on the experiment, but all the same he borrowed Private Ramrod's rifle, took aim, and fired. A tiny cloud of dust arose about fifty yards from the target, but in spite of this a bullseye was signaled. Again and again the same thing happened, and Private Ramrod received his rifle back with a few words as to the benefit of emulating a good example.

Then the private recommenced firing, and to his own surprise a bullseye was signaled. But his joy was somewhat dampened when he heard the raucous voice of Sergeant Smart calling to the marker, "Hi! what's the matter with you, blockhead? The colonel ain't firing now."—London Tit-Bits.

Easy.
"The word 'reviver' spells the same backward or forward." It was the frivolous man who spoke. "Can you think of another?" The serious man scowled up from his newspaper. "Tut-tut!" he cried contemptuously.—Toledo Blade.

Chas Johnson

Mr. Charles Johnson, a wellknown and highly esteemed citizen, died Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock at his home on Hobson street, after an illness of several weeks, of Bright's disease. Mr. Johnson's condition had been extremely critical for several days, and the end was not a surprise to his family and friends. He was 55 years of age, and had lived in this community for the past twenty years, devoting himself to farming.—Pembroke Journal.

Finds Husband's Body.

When Mrs. Jasper Whitfield returned Tuesday night from the funeral of a kinsman, she found her husband's dead body in a stable at White Plains, Ky. The top of his head had been blown off and a shotgun lay at his side. No cause for the supposed suicide is known. Whitfield was 40 years old and a farmer of the neighborhood.

Greece Growing Turbulent.

Athens, Nov. 3.—King Constantine issued orders to the royalists troops to prevent the advance of the revolutionist forces at all costs. One hundred and fifty loyal troops had previously evacuated Katerina before 600 insurgents armed with machine guns, withdrawing to Larissa to join reinforcements. The evacuation of Katerina is confirmed by the general staff.

McCormick's Prediction.

National Chairman McCormick expresses great confidence that Wilson will be re-elected by a big majority, and gives reasons for the hope that is in him. The people love the president for keeping the country in peace and bringing prosperity and happiness to it. Mr. Hughes presents no compelling reason why he should be chosen in his stead. In fact he has done nothing but criticize without stating his own convictions, if he have any, and sought to array one part of the country against the other. Mr. Wilson has had to act and has done so wisely. Deeds are largely to his credit. Hughes contents himself with words, reather weakly ones at that. It will not be hard for the American voter to choose whom he will support. The greatest president since Jefferson, will like him, be given two terms.

West Looks Good.

Democratic campaign workers at Kansas City have received glowing reports of Democratic gains from Utah, Colorado and Wyoming, which lead them to believe that Wilson will carry all three and certainly the two last mentioned.

LIGHT FOR LIBERTY STATUE

Suggestion Made by the New York World Has Received Newspaper Commendation.

Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty in New York harbor is a symbol and an allegory. It is a silent witness to the world, not only of that for which this nation pre-eminently stands, but of the recognition in enduring bronze from the old world to the new. The New York World has made the admirable suggestion that the great welcoming figure in the nation's principal gateway should be illuminated by night as well as by day, that its message should never be silenced or darkened and that it should be an ever-present reminder to those who seek our shores of the undying flame which is the life and inspiration of America. The World has started with a generous subscription a fund for the lighting system itself, and the federal government will be asked to maintain the lighting equipment after the public has provided it. This is a happy thought, which should have the instant assent of the authorities at Washington, and the cordial co-operation of the people.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

INSTEAD OF MEAT

SOME SUBSTITUTES FOR THE HIGHEST-PRICED FOOD.

Expert Gives Advice That Is Well Worth Following at This Time When Provisions Are Generally at a High Figure.

(By MISS BAB BELL, Missouri College of Agriculture.)

The high meat bill is a great cause of the high cost of living. Many people believe that meats are absolutely necessary, and they do have the advantage of having a good flavor and being very easily and quickly cooked, but many of us would have bigger pocket-books and better health if we spent for meat only a sixth instead of a third of what we pay for food. One of the members of the home economics faculty of the University of Missouri goes home to the farm every summer, where her father and brothers are doing plenty of hard outdoor work. She gives her mother a vacation, takes charge in the kitchen herself and feeds the household to a large extent on meat substitutes, which they seem to find well adapted to their needs.

Fish is not as good a meat substitute as many people believe. For while it seems less heavy, it is not less likely to form objectionable acids, but milk, milk products and eggs are good things to use instead of so much meat. A quart of milk or eight or nine eggs has about as high a food value as a pound of the best steak, but on most markets will cost much less. Other wholesome dishes which should be used to take the place of meat are soups, cottage cheese, cream sauces, variously flavored puddings made of milk and cereal of different kinds, and countless other economical, nutritious, easily digested dishes which any good housewife knows how to prepare.

Boiled eggs cooked in water below the boiling point are not as hard to digest as many people believe, but if cooked in very hot water they are more likely to be leathery and hard to digest. Fried eggs are also more digestible if cooked slowly.

Nuts are becoming more popular as meat substitutes, although many kinds of nuts are not cheaper than meat if bought on the market at present prices. On many farms, however, it is merely a matter of picking up hickory nuts, hazelnuts or walnuts, instead of letting the hogs get them, and on a great many others it is a very easy matter to raise peanuts enough for the family and have plenty to fatten a few hogs.

Those who wish to try some meat substitute dishes can secure directions for making them by writing to the Missouri college of agriculture at Columbia. We include here two tried at the college:

Cottage Cheese—Use sour milk that has set. Warm it slowly in a double boiler, if one is at hand, until the whey separates from the curd. Then strain through cheesecloth; chop fine, mix with milk or cream and season to taste. Be careful not to heat too long or too hot before straining, or the curd will be tough.

Creamed Fish in Rice Cases—Line a buttered mold about a quarter of an inch thick with boiled rice. Fill with chopped or boned salmon or other fish, to which thick white sauce has been added. Brown slightly in the oven turn from the mold and serve.

The Sanitary Kitchen Shelf. Rip the oilcloth and the perforated paper off the kitchen shelves and paint them if you value cleanliness and health. Water bugs and roaches and ants make the coziest homes in the warm corners of covered shelves, while they find odorous, freshly painted shelves far too cheerless for domestic purposes. By the time the paint is dry the prospective tenants will have settled elsewhere. And recollect the saving in paper, bug powder and time in cleaning.

Grapefruit Cocktail. Pare grapefruit, being sure to remove all the white portion. Cut fruit in sections, then crosswise in pieces. Sweeten with sugar. Add an equal amount of oranges cut in same size pieces. Cut a slice from the top of six bell peppers and remove seeds and partitions from inside. Fill with orange and grapefruit.

Fricasseeed Veal. Try this sometime for a cheap dish: Three pounds veal cut in small pieces. Boil till tender. Fry two or three slices salt pork till fat is all out, and put in veal and broth. Add butter, salt and pepper. Let it boil, then take out meat and thicken gravy. Pour over the meat.

Carrots and Peas Creamed. Scrub and cut into dice enough carrots to make a pint. Let stand in cold water for half an hour. Drain and cook in an uncovered kettle of boiling water until carrots are tender. (Old carrots require about one-quarter of an hour.) Add a pint of peas and a pint of cream sauce.

When Cooking Greens. When greens are cooked, add a tiny pinch of baking soda to the first water in which they are parboiled for five minutes. Drain this water off and replace it with fresh water for the final cooking.

Yellowness in Clothes. Three things will cause white clothes to yellow—the iron in the water, a too free use of soda, or improper rinsing.

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armor glittering just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia? Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions are being sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by some of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE—"Europe at War"

A big book and over 300 pages, size 10 x 7 inches, handsomely and durably bound in cloth, containing the dramatic history of the great events leading up to the present time; over 50 important and timely special articles by experts on the different phases of the conflict; hundreds of graphic pictures, portraits, photographs, diagrams, specially drawn war maps, illuminating statistical records, copies of official documents and diplomatic messages exchanged between the powers—a clear, vivid, accurate, permanent, interesting and valuable record—a record which once seen you will not willingly be without. Europe's past and present are here dramatically pictured and presented. Hundreds of illustrations graphically tell their own stories. More fascinating than any romance, here is a history so vivid, so dramatic, so stirring, so fascinating, so realistic, so wonderfully presented, so thrillingly told that it leaves an ineffable impression.

CALLER GATE OF THE SAHARA

City of Tripoli is for Many Reasons Well Worth a Visit From the Traveler.

Tripoli is the last of the great old trading ports where the desert meets the sea. She is the hub of a sprawling wheel, whose spokes are caravan routes striking through the great Sahara and shipping lines that radiate over the Mediterranean.

Ships steam into the harbor cautiously, feeling their way behind the protecting crescent headland that shuts out gales from the north, for the water is shallow and studded with sand bars. To the right the old city rises from the water's edge in a series of green terraces, where the homes of the wealthy stand in their gardens. To the left is the Mohammedan quarter, with its domes and minarets.

The heart of Tripoli is in the mosques, the beauty of Tripoli in the oasis and the explanation of Tripoli in the great market. There you see a motley concourse of traders from all northern Africa—Arabs, Turks, Italians, Egyptians, Negroes, Jews. They sit or stand by their stacked wares and barter after the custom of the immemorial East, where time is no object and conversation with all and sundry one of the pleasures of life.

Tripoli has two of the finest mosques in Africa, but the admission of Christians is not encouraged. It is worth all the trouble, however, and all the black looks you will get from the loungers at the gateways to see the Grand Mosque. It is arranged with the simplicity that characterizes the temples of Islam—a bare court, a niche toward Mecca, a latticed booth for the women, and the sultan's box—but the proportions, the sweep of the flanking archways that end sharply against sheer tiled walls, are beautifully restful and harmonious.

There is a mild thrill of adventure in penetrating thus into the sacred place of a hostile race and creed. There is a new sensation, too, in feeling that the very touch of your foot is regarded by many of those who watch you as a sacrilege and a defilement.

FIND NEW VENOMOUS SNAKE

Reptile Has Proved to Be "Considerable of a Puzzle" to California Naturalists.

A poisonous snake that reptile experts and naturalists have so far been unable to classify, and which may be of a new species, came into the possession of Ed Hambly and Jack Horn. The snake was caught by a Mexican at one of the road camps near Los Angeles, Cal.

The snake has two fangs, each about one-eighth of an inch long. In an effort to determine whether or not the reptile is poisonous it was placed in an inclosure with a white rat. The rat was bitten and died in convulsions shortly afterward.

The snake is three and one-half feet in length and olive green in color. Its color changes to a pale yellow when it is angered and light brown markings appear upon its back. Contrary to other venomous snakes, it has the double set of scales that are found on harmless varieties. The scales are smooth and it has extraordinarily long jawbones. Its eyes are the round-pupiled eyes of the harmless snake, and it has only one set of nostrils. Its head is of the same shape as its harmless brothers. Its tail tapers to a fine point and the snake itself differs in shape from other poisonous reptiles in that it is slender rather than thick-bodied.

It strikes without coiling and moves with great swiftness. While being examined it ejected a stream of colorless poison for a distance of 17 inches.

Dr. Charles L. Edwards, naturalist for the public schools, inclines to the belief that it may be related to the vipers. "Until this time I have never known of a smooth-scaled snake which was poisonous," he said.

How German Army Horses Are Dyed.

Because of the shortage of horses in Germany it has been found expedient to dye white and dappled horses a field-gray, as already noted in Popular Mechanics Magazine, thereby giving them the same protective coloring as the soldiers' uniforms and making them available for military purposes. The coloring when first applied gives the horse a violet hue, which later changes into greenish-brown by reason of the chemical action of the sweat retained in the hair. A staff apothecary of the German army has found that the best dye is a 1 per cent solution of permanganate of potassium. This is applied to the head, legs, and upper part of the body with a brush, and to the more sensitive parts with a sponge. The coloring is permanent, harmless, and costs about 50 cents per horse.—Popular Mechanics Magazine

Church Service Sent Over Wire.

A large church in Passaic, N. J., has out one of the ideas of the late Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward," into practical effect. It has recently connected a telephone with the house of one of its oldest members, an old lady now physically unable to reach the church which she had attended regularly for over half a century. A special telephone transmitter is placed on the pulpit and the connections are so well arranged that it is possible for a number of persons, grouped around the receiver, to hear not only the sermon, but every sound of the church music in a house over a mile from the church.

Pains All Over.

Houston, Tex.—"For five years," says Mrs. L. Fulencheck, of this place. "I suffered with pains all over, especially in my back and side, and was so weak I could hardly do my house work. A friend told me of Cardui. Since taking it, I feel so much better! Now I can do all my housework and pains don't bother me any more at all." Cardui is a strength building medicine. Fifty years of success have produced, amongst its many users, confidence in Cardui and what it will do. During this time, Cardui has relieved the female ailments of over a million women. Why not yours? Try it, today. Your druggist sells it.—Advertisement.

SAYS HAMLETT ASSURED PAY

S. C. Church Diligently Sifting $219,000 Ink Mystery In Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—S. C. Church, an attorney, who has been acting manager of the Woodmansee Ink Company since the disappearance of the manager, said that Barksdale Hamlett, former Superintendent of Public Instruction in Kentucky, had assured him in person that the company's bill for $219,000 for ink against the State of Kentucky would be paid if presented to V. O. Gilbert, present Superintendent of Public Instruction in Kentucky. Mr. Hamlett has denied any knowledge of the alleged order for ink, he, like Supt. Gilbert, calling attention to the fact that the State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Kentucky is without authority to order ink for the public schools of the State.

"I met Mr. Hamlett twice in Cincinnati, each time in conference with the Woodmansee representative who has disappeared," said Mr. Church. "Approximately three weeks ago Mr. Hamlett said he would do all in his power to see that the collections were made on the bills, which have been due since late in Nov. 1915."

When Mr. Church presented his bills to Kentucky officials at Frankfort last week, he found them in absolute ignorance of such indebtedness and was assured the Department of Education neither bought inks and paste in such quantities, nor could find practical use for them.

Mr. Church said he had been unable to find any definite orders to the company's executive from Mr. Hamlett. He said the executive informed him the orders were always given over a telephone, and that he himself once had talked with a person representing himself to be Mr. Hamlett.

The orders accumulated during a period from February, 1914, to November, 1915.

Search through billing files to determine to whom the ink finally was billed is in progress.

Prominent Factors in The Busy Life of the Pearl City.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 115.

Head of the Largest Sewing Machine Agency in Western Kentucky.

E. S. MELTON.

Few people realize the magnitude of the sewing machine business. Every home almost is nowadays equipped with a machine and when figures are applied to the problem it runs into thousands of machines in the territory contiguous to Hopkinsville. And when it is remembered that for many years Hopkinsville has been the distributing point for several counties and that one young man has handled this mammoth business for more than eleven years, some idea can be formed of his hustling business qualities.

Edgar Smith Melton was born in Webster county, Ky., Oct. 31, 1876, and was raised on a farm near Sebree Springs. He received a liberal education and when 22 years of age went to Providence, Ky., as a traveling salesman for the Singer Sewing Machine Co. This was in 1898 and during the next seven years he rose rapidly in the estimation of his employers and soon came to be one of their most trusted men. On Jan. 1, 1905, Mr. Melton was transferred to Bowling Green to be district manager. From that city he was quickly promoted to this larger field and came to Hopkinsville in August, 1905, to be district manager of Christian and five adjacent counties. For more than eleven years Mr. Melton has remained here, turning down many tempting offers to go to Louisville and other larger cities. The Singer business under his management has steadily expanded and his salary has grown every year with the growth of business. There are now twelve or fifteen agents working under his capable direction and he is recognized as one of the most efficient managers in the Singer system. In fact he is the only district manager who has been so long in the same place. He makes himself so useful to his company that it lets him do as he pleases and he pleases to remain in Hopkinsville, where he has made his greatest success as an agent.

Personally Mr. Melton is agreeable, courteous and popular. The people have learned to rely upon his representations and he has the confidence of the public. He is accommodating and reliable and has executive force of a rare order.

He was married Dec. 25, 1913, to Miss Carrie Grace Akin, a daughter of Judge J. T. Akin, of Princeton, Ky. He is a member of the Methodist church, the Masonic order and the Woodmen of the World.

Heirs To Trust Estate of $1,250,000.

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 1.—As direct descendants of Gideon Howland, of Dartmouth, Mass., who died many years ago, members of the Grinnell family in Kentucky are among the list of heirs to a trust estate of $1,250,000, of which the late Hetty Green had life use, and have filed their claims with the trustees. This estate, acquired in the whaling industry at New Bedford, by the father of Miss Sylvia Ann Howland, was passed on by her to her daughter, Hetty Green, more than 40 years ago.

How it is to be apportioned to the descendants of Gideon Howland, there are some 440 claimants, scattered all over the United States. The Grinnells are among the inheriting families, and those in Kentucky are:

William P. Grinnell, Brandenburg.
Miss Hattie Virginia Grinnell, Leitchfield.
Frank M. Grinnell, Carrollton.

The Universalist Church.

Rev. Thomas Chapman, Pastor.
Services Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and at 7:00 p. m.

STUART HOSPITAL

Several Recent Operations, But All Patients Are Doing Well.

Mrs. H. H. Tweddell, of Crofton, was operated upon Thursday and is in a serious condition, though she was holding her own yesterday.

Mrs. James Gresham, of the city, underwent an operation this week and is doing well.

Miss Pearl Hamilton, who was operated on for appendicitis, is improving rapidly.

Donald Hall, of Fairview, an operative patient, is improving.

Will Carlross, of the city, a typhoid patient, is steadily getting better.

Mrs. Ben Street, of Elkton, underwent an operation the first of the week, and is doing well.

Mrs. John T. King, of Cadiz, was operated upon several days ago, a difficult major operation, but her condition is now satisfactory.

Miss Bertha Mitchell, of Cadiz, recently operated upon, is sitting up and will return home in a day or two.

Hammack-Harrel.

Miss Elizabeth Harrel and Mr. Herbert Hammack, popular young people of Trenton, were united in marriage Tuesday evening. The ceremony was performed at the Trenton Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. J. T. Lewis, officiating. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mrs. Lelia Harrel, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hammack. He is engaged in business at Ward, W. Va., and he and his bride left after the ceremony for that place.—Pembroke Journal.
